Timothy Campbell has handled a diverse range of issues in multiple venues, for a broad variety of clients. He has represented individual, religious, governmental, and corporate clients in matters through trials and appeals in state and federal trial level and appellate courts in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, as well as in multi-district actions. He has been admitted pro hac vice in many federal and state courts. He has extensive jury and non-jury trial experience in such areas as product liability, medical malpractice, environmental, insurance law, personal injury, and premises liability. Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Campbell has served as staff counsel for a major financial services and insurance organization, and in private practice has counseled both religious and health care clients in the area of risk management. Mr. Campbell was a founding Managing Editor of the Villanova Environmental Law Journal and, prior to law school, co-owned and managed an international laboratory design and installation company. He is a Registered Master Plumber. Throughout his career, Mr. Campbell has been active in a variety of pro bono matters involving issues of child advocacy, patient advocacy, elder law and civil rights.
