James Christie, a co-founder of Christie & Young PC, has practiced for over forty years, primarily in the civil trial arena, including a wide variety of matters - - construction, commercial, professional (attorneys, accountants, engineers, brokers and architects), insurance coverage, employment and personal injury litigation. His practice is now limited to mediation and arbitration of Pennsylvania and New Jersey cases, and expert witness work.

Throughout his legal career, Jim has tried a large number of complex cases to verdict in the federal and state courts in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. He has also represented clients in the state Supreme Courts of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Arkansas; in the Second and Third Circuit Court of Appeals; and in the intermediate appellate courts in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. He has substantial experience in arbitration, mediation and alternative dispute resolution matters, both as a lawyer representing clients, and as a mediator and arbitrator. He is recognized as a “lawyer’s-lawyer,” having represented attorneys in front of the Disciplinary Board of Pennsylvania as well as those in disputes involved in joining and leaving law firms. He has served as an expert witness in insurance coverage and professional responsibility matters in both state and federal courts in Pennsylvania. And he regularly lectures to law firms and county bar associations about risk avoidance, professional ethics, professional responsibility and disciplinary matters.

Jim has successfully resolved commercial disputes, shareholder and partner controversies, civil rights issues, and cases involving malpractice. He has represented municipal organizations and their employees in employment-related, civil rights matters; public transportation disputes; casino license issues; and law enforcement. He has also litigated cases based on Title VII, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, and state counterparts. He has counseled employer clients on the hiring and termination of employees, and compliance with employment discriminations laws; and the negotiation and drafting of employment agreements, employer handbooks, and confidentiality agreements. He has substantial experience in employee benefit disputes with an emphasis on welfare benefit plans, including legal issues with respect to HIPPA, all aspects of ERISA, the Internal Revenue Code, and the Pennsylvania Unfair Trade Practices and Consumer Protection Law.

Perhaps, most importantly, Jim has developed the tools to evaluate objectively the risks and likelihood of a jury or bench-trial verdict, and has successfully advised clients about how, when, and why they should consider settling litigation.

In recognition of his experience and accomplishments, Jim was elected to the American College of Trial Lawyers, membership in which is limited to one percent of the total lawyer population of the United States and Canada. In 2018, he was elected to the American Law Institute, the leading U.S. organization producing scholarly work to clarify and improve the law.
